CULTURAL RISK ANALYSIS

ADAPT. PREPARE. PROSPER.

Organizations don’t need to know about national culture for culture’s sake; they have strategies to drive and objectives to achieve. But on occasion the chosen strategy doesn’t align with the cultural context. In those instances the endeavor will fail because it will be met with too much cultural resistance. ICCM will provide targeted analysis based on your company’s strategies and objectives to make sure the goals and implementation plan make sense in the cultural context you wish you operate. We use our Third Eye process to provide a detailed analysis of the fit between your company, your business initiatives, and the culture in which you are choosing to conduct operations. By calibrating your strategy to the region, you and your company can focus on the data you are familiar with and prosper accordingly. Let us work with your management team today to reduce your risk and ensure the decisions that are driving your business make cultural sense.
